

From: Nancy Strachan
To: HorvathG@wwcsd.net
Date: 11/10/2008 10:48 PM
Subject: Re: Wed. meetings

Hi,

With the bad blood between the union and management we do not have our usually Wed. mtgs. I do know that when there is a posting that the posting is for 10 days and then there are interviews. I don't know how or who conducts these interviews. I didn't realize they were so extensive.

Since this answer took so long, I am hoping that this situation has been resolved,

Nancy Strachan
WWEA President
strachann@wwcsd.net
734-207-4454

>>> Glenda Horvath 11/03/08 2:16 PM >>>

Are you still having the traditional Wed. meeting with the Administration? I only ask as the climate doesn't seem to encourage excessive contact with the antagonists. If you are, could you inquire about the para postings? Specifically, when will they be filled? There is a 1/2 time position posted for my classroom and it's taking an inordinate amount of time to fill it. Meanwhile, I am without additional adults to manage my AI child. One of my friends, student teacher from 07, has been having difficulty getting a teaching position. She is willing to take the AM para job as she is working toward another certification. She (██████████) has her BA, knows the children in my classroom AND the AI child. What luck! She is interviewing this afternoon.

When I inquired, I was told that ██████████ is interviewing and ██████████ is, too. Seems like a lot of interviewing for a low-paying para job. Tippy-toe gently. I don't care too much about their sentiments but, selfishly, I want the job filled...and with ██████████ who is really over-qualified! Thanks. G

Glenda Horvath
Kettering Elementary
Kindergarten